Customer Reviews

This is the 4th book in the Sam Prichard series by David Archer. I am thoroughly enjoying this series. This is one of the best "private investigator" mystery series available on , in my opinion. If you have been reading the series, you know that Sam & Indie did get married in Book 3 ("Love and War"). After the reception, they boarded the plane for their honeymoon destination in Honolulu, Hawaii. Daughter, Kenzie, and her kitty, Samson, went to stay with her grandmothers, Grace (Sam's mother) & Kim (Indie's mother). The honeymoon was cut short because there were suitcase nuclear bombs located in 12 cities. The bombs were found, disabled and the bad guys were taken care of. The good guys won and saved the country but not without suffering losses (for example: Dan Jacobs, Sam's friend & old police partner). Sam & Indie are back from their "new" honeymoon (courtesy of Harry at Homeland Security) and it's time to take care of family things like registering Kenzie for preschool (which Kenzie is looking forward to), grocery shopping, etc. Sam needs to go practice with his band "Step Back Once" (read Book 2, "Death Sung Softly", to find out how Sam became the front man for the band). It's also time to catch up on business -- there have been several calls while they were away. Sam starts listening to messages and making notes. After hearing all of the messages, Sam starts calling people to set up interviews. "He didn't do wife or husband trailing, just as a matter of principle" à " He finds several cases that look interesting and profitable, so he starts setting up appointments to see some prospective clients. This book has new mysteries to be solved, with plenty of twists and turns to keep the viewer interested.
